Parent Tip:

For the best possible quality of life for a lifetime, be in the NICU 24/7 (or as long as possible) and kangaroo your baby at least 80% of the time you are there.

Advocate: Pediatrics Article/NIDCAP

With her research to help reduce neonatal stressors in the NICU and the creation of the NIDCAP Federation International training program, Dr. Heidi Als has made a difference for preemie families worldwide. Yet AAP's journal Pediatrics printed an article that is misleading and serves to discredit NIDCAP. Please sign & pass on this petition: <http://bit.ly/NIDCAP>

Preemie Resource: Important Information Sheet

PreemieWorld provides a number of free handouts to be used in the NICU and beyond in its "Freebies For You" section of the website. This month's freebie is "Important Information." "With so much paperwork, it gets overwhelming," comments Deb Discenza, co-Founder of PreemieWorld, LLC. "This sheet provides the caregiver with the numbers and other information, all in one place. That way in an emergency people can be easily contacted because the information is at your fingertips." Parents and professionals alike will appreciate this freebie in that it is easy to print and reproduce. So go download it here now: <http://bit.ly/ImpInfo> And check out many more here: <http://bit.ly/PreemieFreebies>

Preemie Terms: Kangaroo Care

Kangaroo Care (also known as Kangaroo Mother Care):

A wonderful way to connect with your baby and give him or her the amazing comfort and stability of health. This procedure involves placing your diaper-only baby (plus leads, etc.) on your chest. Quickly you notice that the monitor shows your baby's stats improving and that your baby is much more peaceful and can fall into a very deep slumber. This is something that both moms and dads can do (though dads need to be prepared for a little chest hair pulling).

One thing that's difficult sometimes in this high-tech world in which we live is to begin to rely more on the monitors and machines than the mother. This is where the natural course of mothering turns out, indeed, to be the best medicine.

After the NICU: Changes to Your Address Book

With RSV season and germs in general parents of preemies are likely to find their address book of family and friends changes that first year.

Family and friends believe the NICU is in the past and so you should just "relax." But life has irrevocably changed and so have you. When is a connection toxic and it is time for a break? When the person:

- Isn't willing to accept that you have been through was life-altering and you need to heal.
- Cares more about his/her needs or about fun than your baby's fragile immune system.
- Lacks respect for your role as your baby's parent and caregiver.

Q&A: About International Kangaroo Care Awareness Day - May 15th

Nurtured by Design, Inc. came about when Founder Yamile Jackson, Ph.D., PE, PMP had a premature infant and wanted a way to be with her son during the NICU stay. 12 years later, Yamile sponsors "International Kangaroo Care Awareness Day."

Q: How did this special day come about?

When my son Zachary was in the NICU in 2001 I kangaroo'ed him for 5-7 hours every day. Today, regardless of all of the science behind KC parents are not kangaroo'ing their babies nearly that much. So the day is to raise awareness and educate everyone on the lifelong benefits of Kangaroo Care for NICU and in postpartum babies.

Q: What do you want parents to know about KC?

A: Kangaroo Care is not just for bonding. KC is the opportunity for a baby to develop and mature as much as possible outside of the womb, as stated by clinical evidence. Rule of Thumb: Premies kangaroo for 6 months.

Q: What types of resources are you providing for this?

A: We help facilitate longer kangaroo sessions. Our website has information about Kangaroo Care for NICU parents: <http://bit.ly/Y0iKPK> Also for NICUs we have resources at <http://bit.ly/KangaCare> For more information email kangaroo@nurturedbydesign.com
