Advocate: World Braille Day

The 4th of January 2016 is World Braille Day due to it being the birthday of Louis Braille who invented this code in 1821. In our community of preemie parents we have many families affected by blindness due to Retinopathy of Prematurity (ROP). Braille is used worldwide. To learn more about the individual behind it, go here to find out more: <http://bit.ly/BrailleDay>

Preemie Resource: Feeding & Swallowing Disorders

PreemieWorld provides a number of free handouts to be used in the NICU and beyond in its "Freebies For You" section of the website. This month's freebie is "Feeding & Swallowing Disorders." "Feeding is one of the issues I hear about consistently," comments Deb Discenza, co-Founder of PreemieWorld, LLC. "In the NICU parents are excited to see their baby be able to eat by tube, by bottle or by breast. But the reality is that many of these kids have ongoing feeding issues." Parents and professionals alike will appreciate this freebie in that it is easy to print and reproduce. So go download it here now: <http://bit.ly/FeedingIssues> And check out many more here: <http://bit.ly/PreemieFreebies>

Today is a Good Day

After having identical twin girls at 23 weeks and 5 days and saying goodbye to one of them 2 weeks later, Paul & Martha Sharkey wanted to help families "celebrate the good days."

Established: 2014

Outreach: Philadelphia area as well as mailing care packages across the country upon request.

Web: www.tiagd.org

Programs: Care packages including a journal, water bottle, a copy of On the Night You Were Born, and "One Day at a Time" bracelets in TIAGD tote bags along with mirrors to NICUs for use during Kangaroo Care sessions.

Org: The Preemie Project

The Preemie Project was born when Founder Laura Aker, wanted to use her passion for knitting to help others and found that a local NICU was in need of 900 sets of hats, booties and blankets. TPP grew from there.

Established: 2005

Web Site: www.thepreemieproject.com

Mission: The Preemie Project seeks to provide comfort and support to critically ill infants and their families in Newborn Intensive Care Units in Iowa. We achieve our mission through the support of a devoted group of local and national volunteers.

Programs: The Preemie Project currently works on the following projects for Iowa NICUs:

- Hats, Booties and Blankets
- Blanket Sleepers
- NICU Bedding
- Family Support Items
- Bereavement Items
- Memory Boxes

Book: Helping your child with Extreme Picky Eating

The Details:

By:

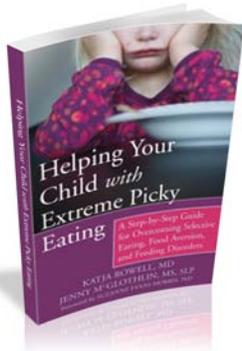

Katja Rowell & Jenny McGlothlin

Available at:

www.Amazon.com

Cost:

$16.95

Picky Eaters can often drive parents to distraction with seemingly random and arbitrary eating habits. In this book, Katja Rowell and Jenny McGlothlin outline tips, tools, and coping mechanisms to help parents draw out the food lover that can present itself in any child. While some of the techniques described in the book are novel, there is nothing earth shattering or overly difficult for a frustrated parent to implement. Feeding your child can be overwhelming in many preemie households, and this book offers strategies that can prevent the dinner table from becoming a war zone.

After the NICU:

Preemie Professional Resolutions

Sometimes resolutions are about your patients, too.

- Upon greeting a preemie parent, welcome them to the team and tell them their input is valuable. You will build instant trust and gratitude for the tough times ahead.
- See a parent doing something fantastic? Tell him or her in detail. Praise for parents makes for a happy preemie.
- Take time during team meetings to single out colleagues who have done exceptional jobs recently. It will raise the mood of your team and productivity.

Preemie Parent Words: 12 Years to Get Through Feeding Challenges

Deb Discenza provides personal wisdom regarding feeding therapy to parents and professionals.

As I write this column, my daughter is a little over 12 years old and finally eating a proper diet. It didn't happen without a lot of work on part of my daughter, my husband and myself not to mention the feeding therapists. The last 12 years were spent struggling with textures, sensory issues, developmental delays, developmental diagnoses and more. We had Early Intervention involved, then ChildFind Preschool, then Special Education. Our pediatrician didn't have the knowledge to know more than to weigh her and chart her growth curve, so I was on my own. I, like so many preemie parents have struggled to get things righted yet had no back-up, no support. In my mind it shouldn't have taken 12 years to get to this point.

To Parents: Never, ever think that feeding issues are no big deal. If the pediatrician or other specialists cannot give you a proper idea of what to do, contact www.FeedingMatters.org - now.

To Professionals: If you don't know enough about feeding issues, say so, but suggest to the parent that they reach out to a specialist for guidance. Feeding Matters (link above), is a resource that I highly recommend for both parents and professionals.
